ARTIST BIOGRAPHY

Marco Marini, artist and researcher, secretary of Numero Cromatico and editor of Nodes Journal. Since 2010, he has been conducting studies on visual deprivation. His experiments target drawing, painting and performance acts that involve himself and the viewers, creating events that investigate spontaneity, the relationship between the Self and the Other and between architectural spaces and urban landscapes, in which visual deprivation functions as a working strategy for the avoidance of spontaneous and emotional contents. From 2010 to 2012 he has been the coordinator of teaching activities at the Musei Capitolini and of the courses Teoria della Percezione, Psicologia della Forma and Psicologia dell'Arte at the Accademia di Belle Arti di Roma.

Show by Numero Cromatico

Without expression, without intention - these are some of the explanatory statements that led to the exhibition Senza, solo show by Marco Marini.

The show presents twenty large-scale drawings realised in visual deprivation. The drawings look like constellations of signs without a specific interpretative orientation - without an image orientation and without personal will. Senza presents the drawing resulting from the performance Ossessioni (2020).

The exhibition is part of a research project undertaken by Marini 10 years ago in the field of non-expressive experimental practice. Marini develops new strategies that aim at avoiding representation, by virtue of the mimesis of an internal, emotional and passionate reality of the subject that performs the action.

In Numero Cromatico's frame of research, this exhibition raises new questions in regards to the intrinsic qualities of the action that is no longer tied to mere representation of reality, but rather life itself.
